

A scanning electron micrograph (SEM) showing a cell with a complex, branching morphology. The cell is covered with numerous small, spherical gold nanoparticles, which are concentrated in the central region. The background is dark, and the cell's surface is highly textured with various organelles and protrusions.

Lies Deceuninck
Hannelore Verhoeven

Radiosensitization of cancer cells using gold nano particles